The team has been developed as a specialised team to offer support to children and families who are significantly affected by disability. Services are targeted in a way that promotes family life, individual needs and the rights of the child. The team works collaboratively with key partner agencies in health and education to reduce disadvantage and promote care and support. The team access a range of provision from both local authority and the private sector, which enables them to provide a flexible response to individual family needs.

The service offers residential care for up to 6 children and young people at Cunningham Place and 6 places at Woodhead Road, Coylton, with two additional places in their satellite unit at Glenriddel Road. The Outreach Service (referred to elsewhere) is part of Initial Response Service.

FAMILY CENTRE

Contacts: Area Team Leaders
Telephone: 01292 288645
Address: Wills Road, Ayr
Catchment area: South Ayrshire Area

The Family Centre’s Aims and Objectives are to provide children and their families with early preventative therapeutic interventions that will seek to protect and promote the welfare of the most vulnerable children in our local community. The Family Centre will strive to work in a multi-agency manner and will encourage an integrated approach to the assessment of need of children referred. Early years intervention by the Family Centre and their partners will seek to put into place action plans that will, wherever possible, prevent a child becoming a child in need.
The Family Placement and Adoption Team have developed over the years to provide both Adopters and Foster Carers with support, advice and guidance. The Team undertake all assessments for Foster Carers and has a 2 weekly cycle of support in place for Foster Carers with a named worker.

All assessments for Adoption are undertaken by the Team including applicants who are planning to adopt babies and are involved with Glasgow and West of Scotland Baby Adoption Service in Glasgow. Adoption support is also offered and we have links with voluntary agencies who can assist with searching for origins.

A recent addition to the Team has been assessment for Kinship Carers and reviews. We recognise the benefit from children remaining with families whenever possible and a worker will engage with prospective Kinship Carers to ensure the well being and safety of the child is paramount.

To promote children’s social, emotional, physical health and well being. Working in partnership with families to promote “good enough” parenting and a quality of life, which enables children and young people to remain safely within their own homes/communities.

The Initial Response Service for Children and Families Services is a central point for which all concerns about children and young people are received and assessed. All Social Workers within South Ayrshire are part of a "Duty" Service to ensure a timeous and appropriate response to children who are at risk of harm and or neglect.

The Children and Families Initial Response Service is committed to ensuring that children receive the help when they need it, and an immediate same day response will always be provided for children where there are Child Protection concerns.
INTENSIVE OUTREACH TEAM

Contact: Dawn Swan, Team Leader
dawn.swan@south-ayrshire.gov.uk
Telephone: 01292 293872
Address: Family Centre, Wills Road, Ayr
Catchment Area: South Ayrshire Area
Age Group: 11 – 16 year olds
Method of referral: Weekly Screening Resource Group

The aims of the service are to provide in partnership with others, a flexible and responsive service to families in crisis, to prevent family breakdown and avoid the unnecessary accommodation of young people up to age of 16. Also to help with the transition from care, back into the family community. In partnership with social workers and other relevant others, the team can provide intensive support and input at times of particular stress and crisis, within the family. The Team can assist families to develop links with more appropriate longer-term supports, and assist families to participate in the formulation of mutually agreed support plans.

Contact: Fiona Berry, Diversion Co-ordinator
fiona.berry@south-ayrshire.gov.uk

Telephone: 01292 660000

Address: McAdam House, 34 Charlotte Street, Ayr KA7 1EA

Catchment area: South Ayrshire

Age Group: 16 – 17 year olds

Method of referral: Procurator Fiscal

The basis for the development of a Diversion from Prosecution Scheme rests on recognition that some offenders experience personal factors which contribute to their offending behaviour. Identifying these root causes and providing appropriate help, at an early stage, could enable them to move on to a more positive and responsible way of life and prevent recurrence of offending.

The Antisocial Behaviour Team is committed to tackling antisocial behaviour through a problem-solving multi-agency approach. The team works closely with Strathclyde Police, other Council Departments, Landlords and Voluntary Agencies to find local solutions to the local problems presented by antisocial behaviour. There are close links with the Community Support Officers in the areas where these are working. The Team will focus on using preventative and diversionary methods to resolve antisocial behaviour problems, but will take enforcement action where appropriate. The service provided extends across all housing tenures including home owners, council tenants, tenants of registered landlords and private tenants and includes access to a variety of resources, including mediation, victim and witness support services.

Hear 4 U aims to provide an independent accessible community based advocacy service for children and young people under eighteen who are living in South Ayrshire. It aims to promote children’s rights. Priority for advocacy is given to children and young people who are entering or involved in the children protection system. Those who are struggling with their emotional health and well-being and are subject to the terms of the Mental Health (Care & Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003 or been admitted to a mental health ward on a voluntary basis including those currently accessing support from the Child & Adolescent Mental Health Service. The service gives children and young people the opportunity to work with an independent advocate who has no involvement in the decision making process affecting them and provides them with support to ensure that they are able to have a voice and participate in these processes.

Moving on Ayrshire is a charity based in Ayr which provides a counselling service at locations throughout South Ayrshire. We offer survivors of sexual abuse and rape free one to one person-centred counselling in a safe environment which can enable them to address their issues and helps them work towards a healthier and happier future. In the immediate aftermath of rape we provide support and counselling to help victims deal with the complex feelings and emotions that have resulted from their trauma. Support and advice is available to family members or friends of survivors who are struggling to come to terms with what is happening to their loved ones. Website: www.movingonayrshire.com

SOUTH AYRSHIRE BEFRIENDING PROJECT

Telephone: 01292 264000
Address: 4A Citadel Place, Ayr KA7 1JN
Catchment area: South Ayrshire Area
Age Group: 8 – 18 years old
Method of referral: Multi Agency/Local Forum or self-referral

The South Ayrshire Befriending Project is a local charity which supports socially isolated and excluded young people (aged 8 – 18) across South Ayrshire who have no or limited adult support to access recreational activities and are often affected by other issues such as Child Protection Procedures, drugs/alcohol, mental health problems and disabilities. By providing young people with an adult volunteer for up to 2 years on a 1:1 basis, meeting fortnightly, and accessing local activities and amenities their confidence and self-esteem is increased and they are encouraged to be involved in their local communities. They can also make new friends and develop social skills by attending the regular group activities facilitated by the Project. The Project is funded through a variety of grants and trusts. Who Cares? Scotland is a national voluntary organisation, established in 1978. We work with care experienced young people across Scotland and we seek to ensure they are engaged with their care journey; are supported to connect with wider networks of care experienced young people locally and nationally; and are empowered to speak up on behalf of themselves and the wider population of care experienced young people across Scotland.
We do this by:

- Providing relationship based, independent advocacy to care experienced young people up to 25 years of age.
- Providing group based activities and other local opportunities for care experienced young people to make friends, have fun and understand how ‘care’ is part of who they are and their identity.
- Campaigning, providing training and education programmes for corporate parents, and influencing national decision makers via policy and lobbying activists.

The organisation’s core work is the provision of independent advocacy, advice, support to and representation of young people who are or have been looked after and accommodated – we call these children and young people with care experience. Who Cares? Scotland works with the majority of Scotland’s Local Authorities and have a national network of experienced children and young person advocates.

     referred by any agency you have been in contact with, or you can refer yourself.

Alcohol and drug misuse can affect physical and mental health, relationships, employment as well as a person’s ability to cope with everyday life. Age, family support, lifestyle, personality and personal beliefs may also determine how drugs or alcohol affect someone.

Recovery means different things to different people and no two people will have the same journey of recovery. NHS Addiction Services can help someone to move towards understanding how to promote, support and interpret their recovery from problematic substance use.

Experience has shown that recovery is all about giving people the tools to become active in their own health care. It is about having the belief, drive and commitment that people can and do recover control of their lives.

Many factors will help in personal recovery. Our staff will work with an individual to support their recovery by offering a range of different treatment support packages:
Mental health and addictions
Physical and sexual health and addictions
Prescribing of substitute medication and follow up support
Naloxone training
Detoxification from opiates and alcohol
Alcohol relapse management
Alcohol brief interventions
Occupational Therapy interventions

Age Group: birth – 16 years
Method of referral: Parents, Carers or by Health Professionals

Sleep Scotland Counsellors are trained to provide support to families of children and young people, birth – 16 years, who have additional support needs and severe sleep problems.

It is acknowledged that sleep deprivation can have a devastating effect on the whole household. It can negatively impact upon parental health and the ability of parents to care for all their children. Sleep deprivation is often the cause of family break-up. There is little in the way of night-time respite care available.

The Sleep Counselling Service

Sleep problems can be effectively treated using specially adapted behavioural and cognitive techniques. Sleep Counsellors work closely with parents and carers devising sleep programmes and providing advice and support to families as they work to improve or resolve their children’s sleep difficulties.

Method of referral: Parents, Carers or by Health Professionals

Sleep Scotland Counsellors are trained to provide support to families of children and young people, birth – 16 years, who have additional support needs and severe sleep problems.

It is acknowledged that sleep deprivation can have a devastating effect on the whole household. It can negatively impact upon parental health and the ability of parents to care for all their children. Sleep deprivation is often the cause of family break-up. There is little in the way of night-time respite care available.

The Sleep Counselling Service

Sleep problems can be effectively treated using specially adapted behavioural and cognitive techniques. Sleep Counsellors work closely with parents and carers devising sleep programmes and providing advice and support to families as they work to improve or resolve their children’s sleep difficulties.

THE SPARK

Contact: Paul Burnside, Relationship Support Manager
P.Burnside@scottishmarriagecare.org

Telephone: 0141 222 7997 / National Appointment No. 0845 271 2711
Address: 72 Waterloo Street, Glasgow G2 7DA

Catchment Area: Whole Community
Method of referral: Appointment basis

The Spark aims to enhance and sustain marriage, relationships and family life with lifelong learning. The Spark is a Voluntary organisation with 40 years experience in the specialist field of relationship counselling. A registered charity, they provide a professional relationship counselling service to the whole community, delivered in local centres throughout Scotland.

Research shows that relationship counselling helps unhappy marriages and relationships by reducing stress and changing negative behaviours. Counselling also impacts positively on children, the extended family, employers and the wider community. Research shows that good relationships between parents are crucial for children’s development. Children do better at home and at school when their parents’ relationship is healthy. This is true even though the parents may be separated. The Spark’s marriage and relationship counselling for couples and individuals enables people to build and sustain healthy relationships. For local people wishing to access our service, they can attend counselling or FOCCUS at The Bungalow, 3A Holmston Road, AYR.

The Relationship Helpline
This free support service from The Spark is for anyone who is having a relationship difficulty but may not require Counselling. It may be a difficulty with a partner or it may be with a Son, Daughter, Mother, Father or other family member. The relationship problem may be with a close personal friend a colleague or even a Boss or Manager at work. The help line is free for both Landlines and Mobiles. The number to call is 0808 802 2088. Service is confidential and will deal with all calls and sign post people on to other services if it is required. The Helpline is available Monday to Thursday 9am-8pm and Friday from 9am to 5pm.

Alcohol and drug misuse can affect physical and mental health, relationships, employment as well as a person’s ability to cope with everyday life. Age, family support, lifestyle, personality and personal beliefs may also determine how drugs or alcohol affect someone.

Recovery means different things to different people and no two people will have the same journey of recovery. NHS Addiction Services can help someone to move towards understanding how to promote, support and interpret their recovery from problematic substance use.
Experience has shown that recovery is all about giving people the tools to become active in their own health care. It is about having the belief, drive and commitment that people can and do recover control of their lives.

Many factors will help in personal recovery. Our staff will work with an individual to support their recovery by offering a range of different treatment support packages:
- Mental health and addictions
- Physical and sexual health and addictions
- Prescribing of substitute medication and follow up support
- Naloxone training
- Detoxification from opiates and alcohol
- Alcohol relapse management
- Alcohol brief interventions
- Occupational Therapy interventions
