AYRSHIRE
COUNCIL
Comhairle Siorrachd Air a Deas

Foreword

Our people and places make South Ayrshire and we have a clear and ambitious vision of what we want to achieve.

We want to serve South Ayrshire by 'making a difference every day'.

In doing this, we can deliver the best outcomes for our people through, creating strong and successful thriving communities that make a real difference.

We will tackle inequalities and injustice by making the best use of available resources and targeting these resources where they are needed most.

This will be complemented by ensuring we make the most of the fantastic assets we have here in South Ayrshire such as our environment, our culture, our heritage and really put this area on the map.

These collective efforts will help improve local health and wellbeing, boost the local economy, enhance the local environment and give people the best possible life chances.

Underlining all of this is the fact that we are here to serve the people of South Ayrshire and we will improve how we engage and communicate with people and communities to ensure we meet their needs and manage expectations.

We will also provide the necessary leadership and accountability to ensure the Council delivers on our vision and ambitions.

Our overall approach will be based on working in a respectful, positive, supportive, ambitious and proud way – the South Ayrshire Way – that demonstrates the standards and behaviours we have set for this Council.

Underpinning this, and sitting right at the heart of our values, is the empowerment of our people – our staff, our residents – and our places – our facilities, our communities – that will give everyone a stake, and a say, in what we do and how we do it.

This Council Plan sets out the framework for how we will do this and how we will achieve our ambitions and our vision of 'making a difference every day'.

Cllr Douglas Campbell
Leader of the Council

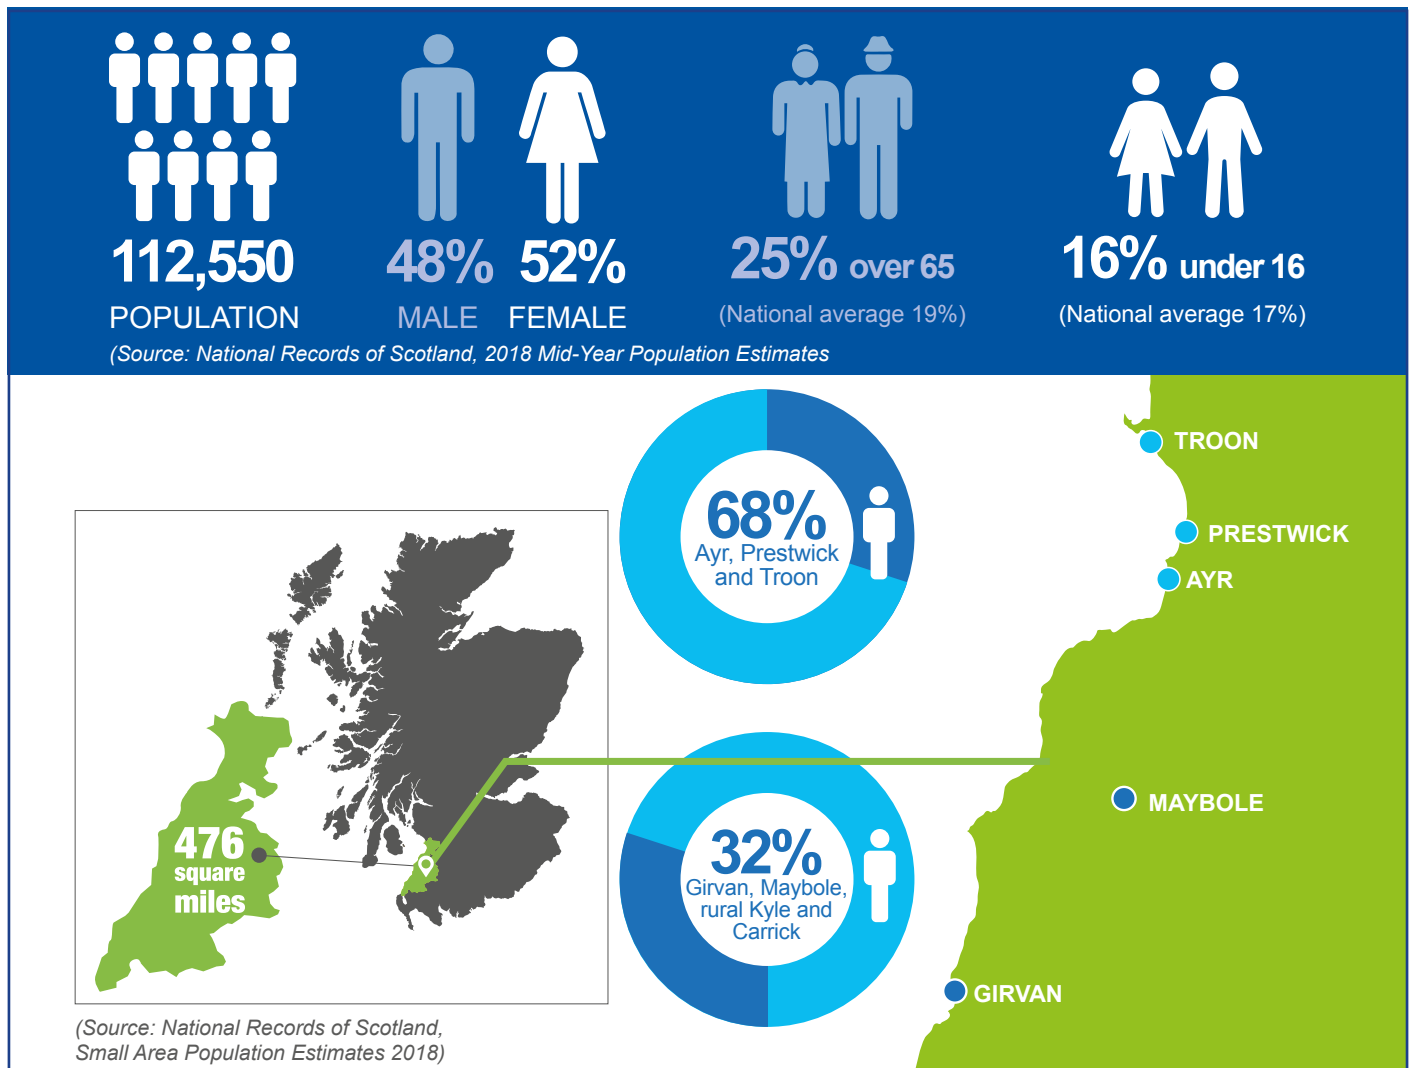

Eileen Howat
Chief Executive

Area Profile

South Ayrshire encompasses the main towns of Ayr, Girvan, Maybole, Prestwick and Troon and a large rural areas stretching from Dundonald in the North to Ballantrae in the South. A profile of South Ayrshire can be accessed from this data profile link however the key points are set out below:

With a population of approximately 112,550, South Ayrshire accounts for around 2% of the Scottish population. In 2018, 25% of the population was aged over 65 compared with 19% across Scotland. In the most recent estimates there were over 1,200 people aged over 90 living in South Ayrshire. The older demographic bias is anticipated to amplify over the coming two decades. The proportion of pensionable aged people in South Ayrshire is anticipated to increase to 32% by 2041 compared with a Scottish average of 24%. South Ayrshire's ¹dependency ratio of 73 is currently above the Scottish ratio of 57. By 2041, the gap between the ratios will have increased further with South Ayrshire's dependency ratio projected to be 87 and Scotland's 64. This will accentuate the pressure on public services, particularly health and social care.

¹The dependency ratio measures the proportion of young people under 16 and people aged 65 as a percentage of people aged 16-64

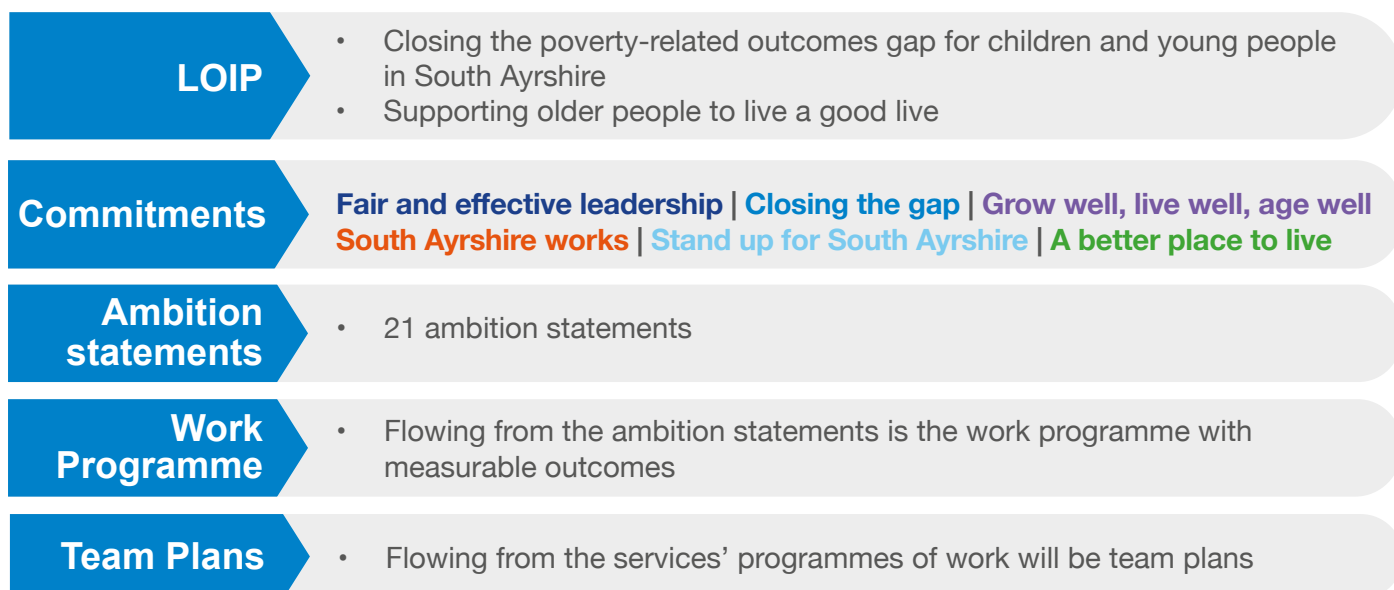

Delivery of strategic objectives and outcomes

The Our People, Our Place Council Plan 2018-2022 sets out the Council's ambitions, this plan is now refreshed and refocused taking account of our vision to serve South Ayrshire by 'making a difference every day'. The Plan contains six commitments and twenty one ambition statements and is supported by a programme of work developed by Council services. The services will work with partners and the communities to deliver on these commitments.

The six high level strategic objectives remain unchanged although translated into the undernoted commitments:

Our planning structure

The plan will be supported by dedicated service/team plans, the Educational Services Improvement Plan, the Children's Service Plan, and a number of other strategies as well as our South Ayrshire Health and Social Care Partnership Strategic Plan 2018-2021 that detail what we will do to deliver these outcomes.

These plans are key documents that will provide the basis for how we plan our services and manage our budgets.

The plans will be monitored on an ongoing basis as set out in the Performance Management Framework.

The performance of individual teams will be planned and monitored using team planning, self-evaluation and monitoring by Directorate Management Teams and the Corporate Leadership Teams.

The Our People, Our Place Council Plan 2018 - 2022 (refreshed) is just one of the key strategic documents that informs the way forward for the Council. The others are:
