

Our natural environment is one of our most important assets in South Ayrshire. Our spectacular and varied landscapes range from the peaks of the Carrick Hills, down to the sandy dunes of Prestwick, provide us space for outdoor activity, natural shelter from the elements, and a home for nature right on our doorsteps.

Whether it is a full garden, a balcony or a window sill, we all have the chance to give nature a home.

Why not talk to the RSPB or our Ranger service to see what you can do.

Enhancing our local environment, whether that is in our own gardens or local area, is vital to ensure we support sustainable towns and villages throughout South Ayrshire.

We can all make small changes to help give nature a home where ever we are.

Photo by David Smith - Link

Our coastlines need your help!

Threats like single use plastics and litter can cause real damage to one of our most striking landmarks.